

I'm not robot!

Valerius Proculus as an ambassador, a young man of the utmost virtue and humanity, for the sake of speaking (in order to speak) with the commander of the enemy. 16. Num negare audes? Quid facies? Convincam, si negas; video enim esse hic in senatu quosdam qui tecum una fuerunt. O di immortales! You don't dare to deny it, do you? Why are you silent? I will prove you wrong (prove it), if you deny (it); for I see that there are certain men here in the Senate who were together with you. O immortal gods! Now I fear that I can give you nothing in return besides (but) tears. JUPITER PROPHECIES TO VENUS THE FUTURE GLORY OF ROME Olli subridens hominum sator atque deorum vultu, quo caelum tempestatesque serenat, oscula libavit natae, dehinc talia fatur: "Parce metu, Cytherea; manent immota tuorum fata tibi. Cernes urbem et promissa Lavini moenia sublimemque feres ad sidera caeli magnanimum Aenean; neque me sententia vertit. ... Bellum ingens geret Italia populosque ferocis contundet moresque viris et moenia ponet. ... Romulus excipiet gentem et Mavortia condet moenia Romanosque suo de nomine dicet. His ego nec metas rerum nec tempora pono: imperium sine fine dedi. Quin aspera Iuno, quae mare nunc terrasque metu caelumque fatigat, consilia in melius referet, mecumque fovebit Romanos, rerum dominos gentemque togatam. The father of men and of gods, smiling down on that one (her) with the face by which he calms the sky and the storms, ritualistically poured kisses on his daughter, then speaks such (these) words: "Spare your fear, Cytherean; the fates of your people remain unmoved (unchanged) for you (I assure you). You will behold your city and the promised walls of Lavinium, and you will bear great-hearted Aeneas on high to the stars of the sky; nor does my thinking turn me (away from my plan/I have not changed my mind). ... Wheelock AnsKey2_7Ed_3P.indd 236 6/13/11 11:41 AM Teacher's Guide and Answer Key for Wheelock's Latin • 237 He shall wage a huge war in Italy and will crush fierce peoples (tribes) and (he) will establish customs and walls for his men. ... Romulus will take up the nation and will found the walls of Mars, and he will call the Romans from (after) his own name. For these people I shall set neither limits of things (of space) nor times (of time). I have given (them) power without limit (limitless empire). Indeed even harsh Juno, who now wearies the sea and lands and sky with fear, will recall her plans into a better one, and with meshe shall cherish the Romans, the masters of things (of the world) and the toga-clad race. THE VALUE OF LITERATURE Si ex his studiis delectatio sola peteretur, tamen, ut opinor, hanc animi remissionem humanissimam ac liberalissimam iudicaretis. Nam ceterae neque temporum sunt neque aetatum omnium neque locorum; at haec studia adolescentiam alunt, senectutem oblectant, res secundas ornant, adversis perfugium ac solacium praebent, delectant domi, non impediunt foris, pernoscant nobiscum, peregrinantur, rusticantur. If enjoyment alone were sought from these studies, still, as I suppose, you would judge this relaxation of the mind (to be) most humane and liberal. For others (other forms of relaxation) are not of (for) all times nor all ages nor places; but these studies nourish our youth, delight our old age, embellish favorable circumstances (make good times better), and offer refuge and solace in adverse times, they delight (us) at home, do not hinder (us) out of doors, they spend the night with us, travel abroad, and live in the country (with us). A MONUMENT MORE LASTING THAN BRONZE Exegi monumentum aere perennius ... Non omnis moriar, multaque pars mei vitabit Libitinam. I have completed a monument more lasting than bronze ... I shall not entirely die, and a considerable part of me will avoid Libitina.
